EVERYBODY should go to the Maternity Home luau today. The weather prophet has declared that the atmospheric conditions will be propitious and there is everything in the wide, wide world to attract one to the fete. Of luau there will be a plenty, and of things to sell—flowers, candy, fancy work, ice cream and knick-knacks to please the children—there will be an abundance. Queen Liliuokalani will lend her personal aid to make the luau a success and in this she will be assisted by Prince David Kawananakoa, who has charge of one of the native luau tables. The ladies who have the affair in hand have left nothing undone to assure a successful issue, not only to themselves but to those who attend. The native luau tables will be loaded with every Hawaiian delicacy known, and they are coming from "Hawaii to Niihau."

Only those who know how to serve these tables and make them attractive to haele and kamaaina alike have been chosen for this branch of the fair. The Shriners, in their red fezzes, will be in attendance afternoon and night. Three hundred tickets were bought for the visitors by the local Mystics and the result is that a dance will be given tonight in the out-of-door lanai. At table 1, Prince David Kawananakoa will be in charge; table 2, Mrs. Irene Brown; 3, Mrs. M. Beckley, Mrs. Captain Tripp; 4, Mrs. Charles W. Booth, Mrs. M. Reis; 5, Mrs. Mana and Miss Bush; 6, Mrs. John Colburn. A large number of young ladies will assist in serving the guests. The foreign lunch table will be presided over by Mrs. F. W. Macfarlane and Mrs. S. C. Allen; coffee table, Mrs. W. L. Bowers, Mrs. Richards; candy table, Misses Abbie and Alice Campbell; ice cream, Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mrs. Geo. Herbert, Mrs. Carmichael, Mrs. Noonan; flower table, Miss May Damon, Miss S. Carter; lemonade, Miss E. Nolte, Mrs. Grau; fancy table, Mrs. E. Cunha, Mrs. Pierre Jones; Queen's autograph table, Queen Liliuokalani, Miss Agnes Walker; decoration committee, Mrs. A. F. Clark, Mrs. Fernandez, Ernest Parker, superintendent luau, Miss Lucy Peabody; executive committee, Miss Agnes McIntyre, chairman; Mrs. James Campbell, Mrs. J. F. Bowler, Prince David Kawananakoa; physicians' wives' table, Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. May, Mrs. Hodgins, Mrs. Wayson, Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Sinclair. This latter table is especially for the children.

The pretty masquerade ball given at the Simpson home at Punahou last week for the young folks was a successful affair and the masqueraders were quite original in the characters they assumed, as the following list will indicate: Agnes Lyle, musician; Eola Logan, souvenir buttons; Ida Logan, silver star; Annie Logan, fashion plate; Myrtle Sturtevant, Red Riding Hood; Constance Simpson, fairy; Aileen Simpson, old woman who lived in a shoe; Lorine Cunningham, Red Riding Hood; Willie Cunningham, devil; Mildred Turner, flower girl; Melville Turner, knickerbocker; Campbell Turner, kamaaina; Maud Paty, Indian girl; May Paty, colonial lady; Elsie Bailey, tambourine girl; Harry Bailey, beefsteak; Fred Bailey, beefsteak; Ella Murray, Normandy peasant; Lilly Murray, tramp; Jennie Murray, Bridget; Harold Simpson, best dressed gentleman; Charlie Simpson, nurse looking for a partner; Neville Osborne, girl; Abbie Bromley, school marm; George Bromley, pake; Daisy Colburn, Spanish girl; Sarah and Lena Colburn, Mexican girls; Kenneth Ables, Monte Carlo; Willard Ables, George Washington.

The flower table at the Maternity Home luau will be presided over by the society girls of Honolulu who have the most winning smiles for young men with pockets well lined with silver, and he will be unbending indeed who does not bask in them for the sake of the pretty floral souvenirs. Among those who will be in attendance at this table are Miss May Damon, Miss Sadie Carter, Miss Kathryn Widdfield, Miss Mary Widdfield, Miss Juliet King, the young society matrons who will chaperone them are Mrs. Gerritt P. Wilder and Mrs. J. S. Walker.

There was a "little" feast in Progress hall yesterday evening after the installation of more than a score of aspirants for Shriner honors were put through the mill. That is, it was proposed to be a "little" feast, but by the time the feast began there was a very large indication that the appetites of the visitors had been whetted by the exhilarating air of the Paradise of the Pacific and the demand for the two articles of food—sandwiches and beer—almost broke up a local restaurant in its attempt to supply the frequent calls for "more." The original plan was to have five sandwiches for each of the 150 persons expected, but when the committee began to count the number of those really present it was found that there were nearer 300 persons present and, instead of 750 sandwiches—and beer in proportion—they would need about 1,200. The contract was let to the Grill restaurant and he leisurely began to make up the required number—chicken sandwiches, too. One Shriner broke the record by eating twenty sandwiches, a dozen more ate a baker's dozen each and the man with the record of twenty began over again. The demand for chicken sandwiches became so great that a relay hack system was started. Finally the muscles in the cook's arms began to give out and the sausage machine was requisitioned and the proprietor, coat off and sleeves rolled up, went to work on the crank with a will and literally turned the filling out in pounds.

More definite news of the death of Miss Rowena Jehu has been learned by a private letter received by a gentleman now visiting in this city. One of the surviving women from the Rio disaster, who was the companion of Miss Jehu on the trip which brought sorrow into so many homes, tells a story which shows that the young lady was in a fair way to be rescued and was already in one of the ship's boats when, in the suddenness of the vessel's sinking, a huge spar toppled over, crushing the boat like an egg shell and sending its occupants to watery graves. The night before the disaster and just before retiring, Miss Jehu announced that she intended to rise early in the morning so as to see the Golden Gate by sunrise. The survivor says she, too, arose early and had just completed her toilet when the ship crashed upon the hidden rocks. She immediately divined the nature of the stoppage and rushed for the deck. As she passed Miss Jehu's stateroom she peered in, calling for her, but she was not in the room. She went on deck and saw several women in one of the ship's boats which had just been lowered. Then the vessel began to go down, a spar crashed over the side directly upon the boat and that was the last she saw of these people. The writer stated that the family and friends of Miss Jehu were almost frantic over her death and were hoping against hope that her body would be found.

The Hawaiian hotel was a scene of beauty last night during the rendering of the concert program, complimentary to the visiting Shriners and the officers of the Austrian cruiser Donau and of the English flagship Warspite. The grounds were ablaze with lights and flags and bunting greeted the eye at every turn. The evening was perfect and in consequence the grounds, lanais and promenades were thronged. Upon the lanai Mr. F. A. Schaefer, Austrian Consul for the Hawaiian Islands, entertained Captain Hauss and his staff of officers from the Donau, while the British officers fraternized with them like all true sons of Mars in times of peace. The Donau's band was in attendance but did not play. A return concert will be given by the latter before the vessel sails for other ports. The concert was replete with airs reminiscent of Vienna and the Blue Danube and was greatly appreciated by the visiting naval officers.

A Wagnerian musical under the auspices of the Kilohana Art League will be given next Thursday evening in the league hall. It is to be a social as well as a musical treat and a bevy of the prettiest of society's debutantes will be in attendance on a number of tea tables to be placed in the corridors and adjoining rooms where light refreshments will be served. A long program has been arranged for the occasion which will be interpreted by a number of the leading musicians of the city.

With two foreign war vessels in port Honolulu is in the throes of a social excitement which it has not experienced for many a long month. The Austrian war vessel Donau has been here many days, but the Warspite with an English Rear Admiral and a glittering staff aboard, is a recent arrival. The officers have been engaged in making only formal calls so far. Their presence in the city, together with those of the visiting Shriners, causes kamaaina to say, "It seems like the days of the monarchy."

Mrs. Edward D. Tenney gave a pretty luncheon on Thursday in honor of Mrs. W. S. Waller of San Francisco. Covers were laid for the following guests: Mrs. Andrew Fuller, Mrs. J. A. Gilman, Mrs. R. D. Walbridge, Mrs. M. C. Widdfield, Mrs. Tenney, Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, Mrs. M. M. Estee.

Mrs. Edward D. Tenney was the hostess at a delightful dinner party given on Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. Barbour Lathrop of New York, covers being laid for nine. The guests were Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Cooper, Mrs. M. C. Widdfield, Mr. and Mrs. Gerritt P. Wilder, Mrs. Mary Gunn, Dr. Murray.

residence on the Peninsula, Governor Dole, Mr. D. W. Stevens of Washington, D. C., General Hartwell, Col. J. C. Baird, Mr. F. M. Hatch, Mr. W. O. Smith, Mr. E. P. Dole, Mr. J. A. McCandless, Mr. Theo. F. Lansing. The party will leave for the Peninsula in a private car attached to the 11:15 o'clock train this morning and after the luncheon the guests will enjoy a cruise about Pearl Harbor in Mr. Cooper's launch.

Mr. Barbour Lathrop will give a cotillion at Progress hall a week from next Monday evening in honor of Miss Kathryn Widdfield and Miss May Damon to about fifty of the young society people and matrons. It will be one of the swiftest affairs given in Honolulu and, as a New Yorker, Mr. Lathrop knows a thing or two in cotillion figures. The favors are to be exquisite dainties and the hall will be a dream of artistic skill in decorating.

Mrs. Henry E. Cooper gave a delightful luncheon Tuesday at the Cooper residence on the Peninsula for Mrs. W. O. Smith, Mrs. Hobron, Mrs. J. B. Atherton, Mrs. S. M. Damon, Mrs. M. M. Estee and Mrs. Stockbridge.

Mr. Paul Isenberg, Sr., will entertain a large number of guests on Monday, including the officers of the Austrian cruiser Donau, at Oahu plantation. The party will be taken there in a special car.

Miss Jennie Long, who was at one time an army nurse at Buena Vista Military hospital in this city, has in some manner gained a foothold in San Francisco society circles, according to the following from the Call: "Mrs. Smith, Mr. E. P. Dole, Mr. J. A. McCandless, Mr. Theo. F. Lansing. The first of these affairs took place at Mrs. Jewett's home on Monday evening last, and the clever reader, Miss Jennie Long, presented a delightful program. Mr. and Mrs. Jewett did not appear at the reading owing to the recent death of their most intimate friends, Mr. and Mrs. Rounseville Wildman."

Rear Admiral Andrew Kennedy Bickford, commander-in-chief of the British Pacific squadron, and officers of the cruiser Warspite made a formal call upon Governor Dole yesterday morning, accompanied by Adjutant General Soper of the Hawaiian National Guard. In the afternoon the call was returned by the Governor, attended by Adjutant General Soper and Captain Hawes, the latter two being in full dress uniform.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Brown gave a theater party for Camille Thursday evening for Miss Juliet King, Mrs. Mary Gunn, Mr. Julian Monsarrat. In an adjoining loge were Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Smith, Miss May Damon, Miss Kathryn Widdfield, Mr. Robert Shingle and Mr. B. Griggs Holt.

Mrs. F. M. Swanzy entertained at cards yesterday afternoon for a large number of guests.

Mrs. F. M. Hatch gave a delightful dinner on Thursday to a few intimate friends.
